WORTH Partnership Project, an initiative created by the European Commission to boost fashion and lifestyle industries within Europe and develop innovative design-driven products, has announced the first 25 winning partnerships for the first call. Now, the #WORTHPartnershipProject reopens applications to discover the next round of promising projects. WORTH is embarking in the second edition of a 4-year journey, aiming to support 150 partnerships throughout the project duration.

The second call for applications opened on 17th of April. The WORTH Community is rapidly increasing, with over 800 members registered in WORTH, ready to connect and build transnational collaborations. All creative minds are invited to register and apply to the second call of WORTH Partnership Project, which closes on 24th October 2018.

What in it for you? The selected partnerships will receive financial and capacity building support to exchange knowledge and skills between manufacturing, creative and technology companies with:

- A small amount of seed money € 10,000 per project
- Individual coaching and advice on product market positioning, branding and IPR
- Participation in two international events,
- Networking, cross-sectorial collaboration, and product development

The 25 highly innovative design projects selected in the first call covered a broad spectrum of industries across 20 different European countries. All the projects presented strong market potential and have empowered real international partnerships to develop European creativity.

111 applications from designers, SMEs, start-ups, manufacturers and technology firms within the participating fashion and lifestyle sectors were submitted for the first edition. With the goal to connect, create and collaborate on a transnational basis, throughout European Union and COSME countries, 41 shortlisted partnerships were invited to attend the final evaluations at #WORTHWeekendMadrid, where the Steering Board selected the final winning partnerships.

How to apply?

To enter the application process, applicants must complete the following three steps:

- Fill out the registration form and request the eligibility check. Apply now!
- Find a partner to work with (partnerships must be formed of at least two partners, maximum three from at least two different EU-COSME countries).
- Submission of a partnership project proposal.

Once applicants have registered and passed the eligibility check, they gain access to the WORTH Gallery, which is currently made up of more than 800 creative fashion designers, artisans, SMEs manufacturers and disruptive tech firms from across Europe.

Applicants can request support from the WORTH Team to find a partner and/or shape a project/idea and advice on the project proposal submission process. A support section with specifications of the call, guidelines and selection criteria is available here.

A Steering Board of renowned experts from the high-end fashion, design and consumer goods industries will support the successful partnership projects. Steering board members include international design specialists in disruptive processes such as 3D printing or flexible electronics, curators, design brands owners, founders of international fashion networks and directors of fashion institutions.

WORTH Partnership Project:

A European Commission initiative supporting collaborations between SME and start-up designers, manufacturers and technology firms to create innovative and design-driven products and ideas. The initiative is implemented by a consortium across Europe with the core belief that creative industries (SMEs and start-ups) are key drivers of economic growth in Europe.

WORTH Partnership Project is funded by the COSME Programme of the European Union for the Competitiveness of Enterprises and Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises.
